

Family Photoshoots at Lunsford Farm

Family Shoots

Lunsford Farm is set in stunning countryside and gives you the chance to enjoy nature, freedom and fresh air and get up close and personal with the farm animals. This is the kind of holiday where memories are made that the whole family will cherish forever. I would love to help you do this with a photoshoot that captures the days spent in the countryside, feeding the chickens, holding the lambs, running in the fields and having fun together in this amazing setting.

About me

I'm Anna, a family and wedding photographer based in East Sussex.

I have been photographing families and weddings since 2017 and love every photoshoot that I do. My photoshoots are all about laughter and fun and getting families interacting with each other. No forced smiles here!

When I'm not taking photos, I am often found walking dogs, planning adventures, spending time with my nephews and watching stand-up comedy.

I'm laid back and easy going and bring this approach to all photoshoots.

"I'm blown away by the photos."

Photoshoot tips

People always ask me what to wear for a family photoshoot and the answer is that you should wear whatever is comfortable for you. I recommend that you avoid large logos and clashing colours and try to choose colours that compliment each other.

Before the shoot, think about what you would particularly like to capture photos of - what have you particularly enjoyed doing during your holiday and what is important to you. Let me know beforehand and I'll be sure to make it a priority.

If you have babies or toddlers, it is absolutely fine if toilet or snack breaks are required! It is definitely advisable to have some snacks to hand!

Parents often worry that their children won't play ball or follow instructions but please do not let this worry you - focus on having a nice time and I will ensure you have some nice photos! It is worth coming prepared with some jokes, games or songs that always get your children smiling.
