

Family Blossom Photoshoots

About me

I'm Anna, a family and wedding photographer based in East Sussex.

I have been photographing families and weddings since 2017 and love every photoshoot that I do. My photoshoots are all about laughter and fun and getting families interacting with each other. No forced smiles here!

When I'm not taking photos, I am often found walking dogs, planning adventures, spending time with my nephews and watching stand-up comedy.

I'm laid back and easy going and bring this approach to all photoshoots.

Family Shoots

A family shoot with me is all about having fun - my aim is to get you laughing, make you feel relaxed in front of the camera and give you opportunities to interact. These mini shoots are quite fast paced and can be noisy but the result is happy photos full of energy for you to treasure. I am very happy to tailor the shoot to your family so if there is anything you enjoy doing together that you want to incorporate or any photos that you particularly want, let me know and I'll do my best!

Photoshoot tips

People always ask me what to wear for a family photoshoot and the answer is that you should wear whatever is comfortable for you. I recommend that you avoid large logos and clashing colours and try to choose colours that compliment each other. Neutral and pastel colours work particularly well (in my opinion) but as you can see from the photos, a pop of colour can be very striking.

If you have babies or toddlers, it is definitely advisable to have some snacks to hand!

Parents often worry that their children won't play ball or follow instructions but please do not let this worry you - focus on having a nice time and I will ensure you have some nice photos! It is worth coming prepared with some jokes, games or songs that always get your children smiling.

I recommend you leave enough time to park and go to the toilet before your shoot as we will have to start at the allocated time.
